Ensure your licenses are in compliance

As your company changes, so do your business license needs. To help streamline the process, CSC offers comprehensive license research services that make it easy to understand the requirements for new locations, make changes to existing locations, or uncover which licenses actually exist.

Our expert staff possesses decades of compliance knowledge, enabling us to provide the solution our clients can rely on for their state, county, and municipal licensing needs. If you have a particular license research need, CSC has the solution. For example:

 Need: We opened a new location. What are my licensing needs?

 Solution: New Location Research. CSC conducts research with the jurisdictional authorities and sends a detailed report with relevant license applications specific to your location, industry type, and business activities. Applications are sent to you as fillable PDFs, along with filing tips, licensing contact information, and a breakdown of the required fees. You simply complete the forms, sign, and return with payment.

 Need: What licenses do we have in place at this location, are they current, and are there other licenses we need?

 Solution: Existing Location Research. CSC collects any license data that you have regarding your locations and contacts the jurisdictional authorities to obtain the details of your licenses, as well as any potential license gaps. Your organization is then provided with a list of the existing license documentation, along with the entity name, license type, and expiration date associated with those licenses. You will also be provided with applications for licenses you may need.

 Need: We made some changes to our business. How do I update my license to reflect those changes?

 Solution: Amendment Research. When your company needs to change things like its entity name, address, list of officers and directors, federal identification number, or registered agent, CSC's specialists will prepare a report identifying your requirements, delivering all the necessary documents and information to you.

 Need: What's the status of all current licenses at my location of business?

 Solution: Verification Research. CSC verifies the status of your existing business licenses within a jurisdiction based on the location and company information you provide. This service is available at any time to verify the compliance status of your business licenses.
